

ABUSIVE BEHAVIORS

People might try different ways to get me to do things that I don't like.

They might call me names or say mean things.

They might say that they won't be my friend or care about me.

They might not help me when I need it.

They might take things away from me.

They might even hit me or hurt me in other ways.

This campaign promotes the idea of body autonomy for individuals with disabilities. ASERT has partnered with researchers at the National Crime Victims Research and Treatment Center at the Medical University of South Carolina to develop resources for the Be Safe campaign.

The Autism Services, Education, Resources and Training (ASERT) Collaborative is a statewide initiative funded by the Bureau of Autism Services, PA Department of Human Services.

ABUSIVE BEHAVIORS

They might try to scare me.

It is not ok for people to do mean things to me.

If someone tries to do these things, I should tell them to "stop."

If people do these things to me, I should tell an adult that I trust.

I am in charge of my body.

No one is allowed to touch me unless I say it is ok.

It's up to me who can touch me.

Be Safe
Ask. Listen. Respect.

This campaign promotes the idea of body autonomy for individuals with disabilities. ASERT has partnered with researchers at the National Crime Victims Research and Treatment Center at the Medical University of South Carolina to develop resources for the Be Safe campaign.

The Autism Services, Education, Resources and Training (ASERT) Collaborative is a statewide initiative funded by the Bureau of Autism Services, PA Department of Human Services.